

READING
FORCE
FOR VETERANS

Did you serve in the Forces? Are you living in Northern Ireland?

If so, you can take part in Reading Force, the shared-reading initiative for Forces families.

Taking part in Reading Force gets everyone involved and brings your family closer together, whether you are in the same place or in touch from a distance.

TO CLAIM YOUR FREE BOOK

Register on our website and we'll send you and your family a good read to get you started.

You can also contact our NI Ambassador Paula Ashe at paula@readingforce.org.uk

www.readingforce.org.uk

How do I get involved?

As a veteran there are three ways that you can get involved with Reading Force:

As a family:

Reading Force can bring your family closer by sharing a book. This could be for your own children or your grandchildren and you don't have to be in the same country to take part. When you join, your group will be sent free book(s) - one for each child. Each child will also receive a Reading Force scrapbook to fill in with all your favourite memories, drawings, photos and doodles. Request your free book(s) at www.readingforce.org.uk/join-reading-force-northern-ireland

As an individual:

Reading is good for the soul and sometimes taking 15 minutes to enjoy some time to escape into a fictional world is all you need. How you read is up to you, you might read a book all in one go or over a few weeks, maybe at a set time of day. Reading should be enjoyed as you feel most comfortable.

Register with Reading Force to be kept informed about book clubs and other reading initiatives. Your information you provide is held securely and we will not share it.

Register by filling in a form with Paula or visit www.readingforce.org.uk

Are you part of an organisation that would be interested in starting up a book club?

At Reading Force we can provide books for three months and the support to get this off the ground. What a great way to connect others to integrate as part of your programme.

If you would be interested in being a coordinator please contact paula@readingforce.org.uk

Reading Force is generously supported by various sponsors, charities and trust funds including:

